Volume XXXVI

At the start no one could know how the year would turn out, but everyone sure knew how it was beginning: with a lot of confusion. Facing a new principal, the student body dealt with many challenges with the change. The new principal, Mr. Don Haffner, enforced discipline which caused a lot of strife. Old rules with the new rules sometimes shocked the student body in which they voiced their disagreeing opinions. We began the year with no metals class and one basic science class. Mr. Haffner was greeted with complaints of a seven-hour day and the classroom switch. "It was definitely weird not knowing which classroom to go to for each class," commented Senior Tom Brungardt. People wondered whether the school could make up for lost time. Before a few weeks had passed, the year that started with such confusion was finally accepted. Mr. Ted Duell was added to our staff so a variety of science classes were offered. At the beginning of the second semester, Mr. Jim Wittman began teaching woods and metals classes in the afternoon taking over for Mr. Hal Hays. The seven-hour day stirred emotions as the day changed from the original six hours. School dismissed at 3:30 for everyone with the exception of students who traveled home on the buses. They were dismissed at 3:50 after having a 20 minute study hall.

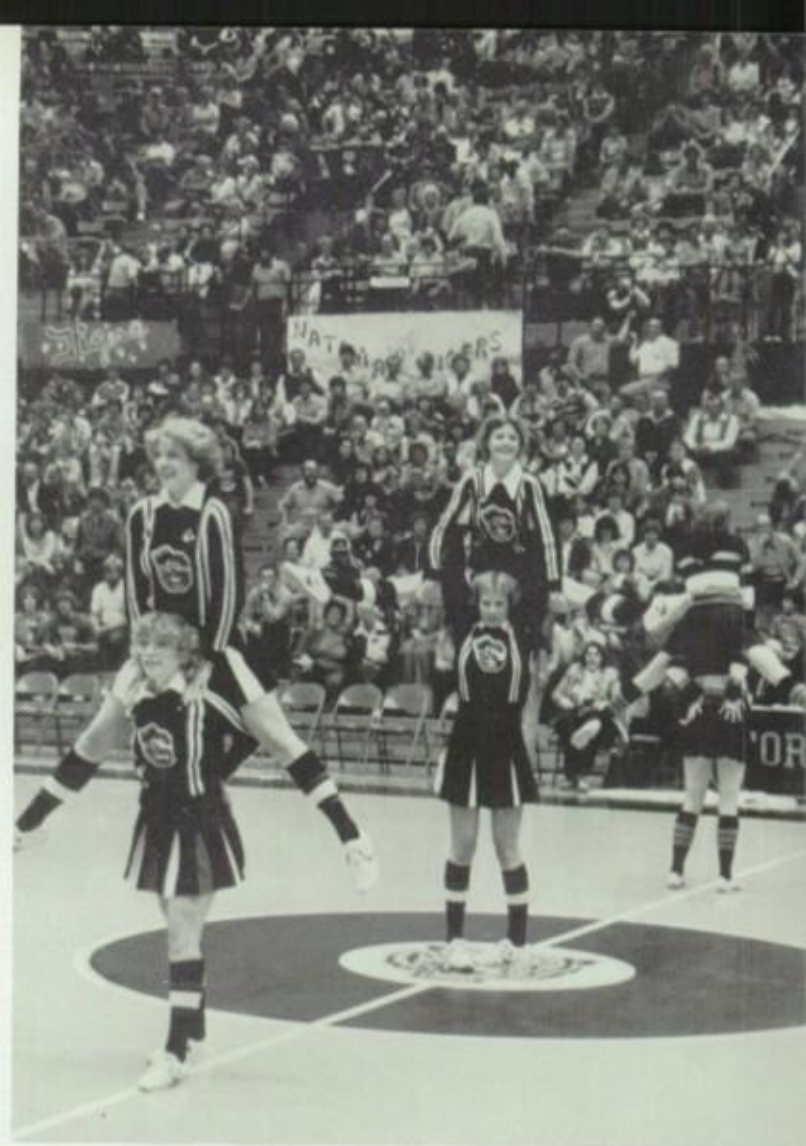

We encounter changes in our lives every day. Different situations create different challenges. Each challenge must be faced with brave determination and positive spirit. There is always room for improvement and our need makes these improvements happen. Their outcomes enable us to be the best we can be.

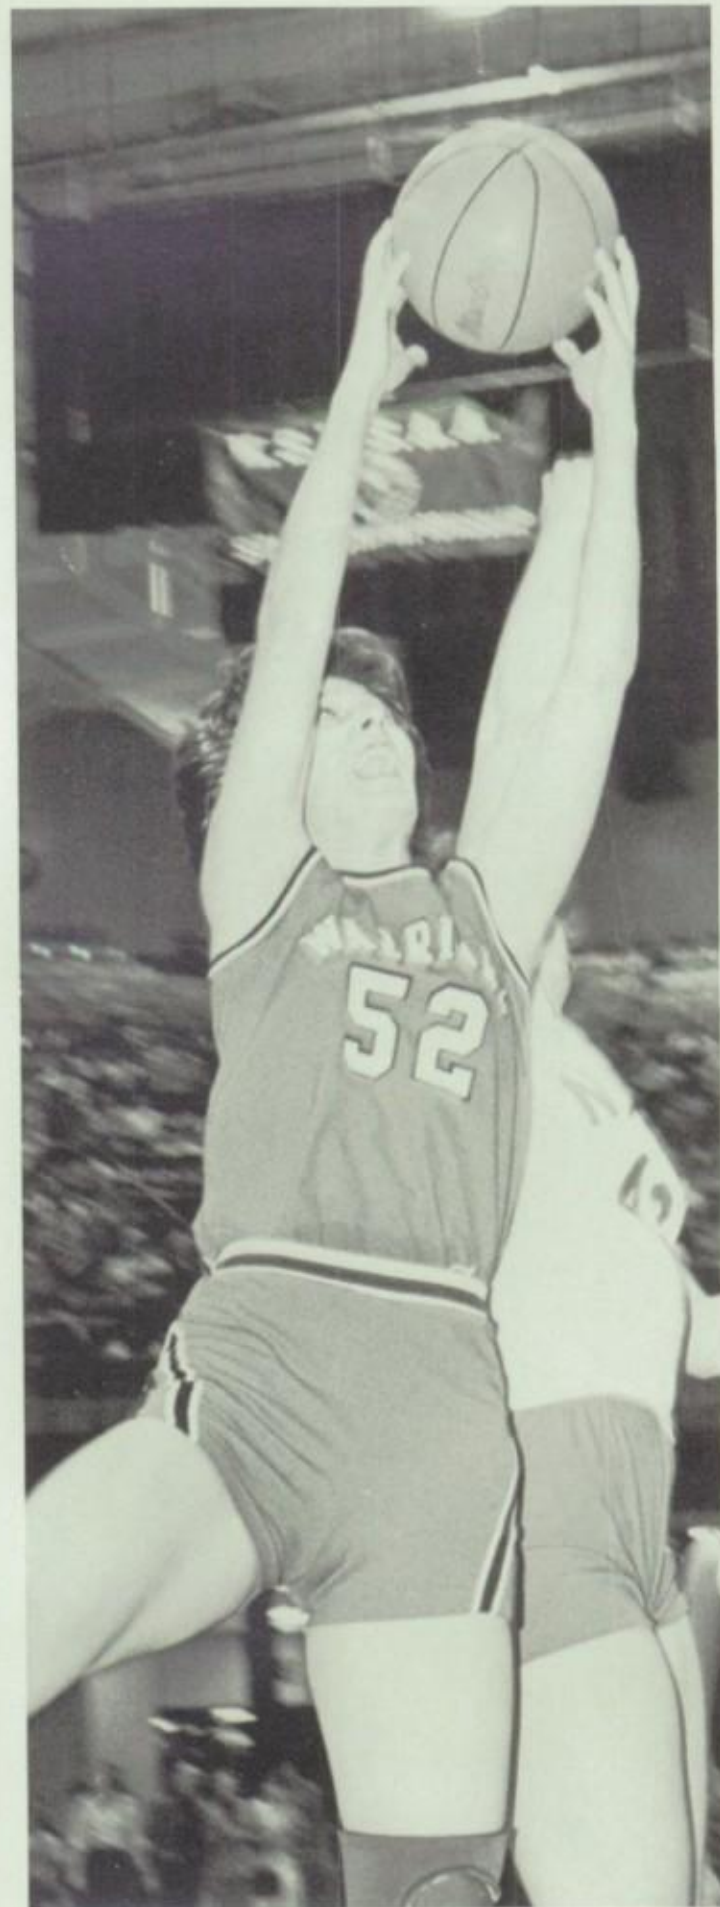

New ideas and rules never got GHS down as we unified together as one unit. With the discipline on one end and the student body on the other, where did this leave the faculty? Lisa Waldman stated her feelings, "I felt the teachers were behind us encouraging us to work with Mr. Haffner and understand him. We had to work together because there was a different atmosphere that we had to deal with." Building a close relationship, all aspects were thoroughly looked over and dealt with as one unit. Teachers maintained a relationship vital to learning as well as managing to become our friends. Because of all the changes, people stuck together more. Community support builds the foundation for a good school system and Grinnell Community has the respect and pride GHS needs. Very few schools have a cheering section like we do. Mrs. Joan Gallion expressed her reasons for this community support in explaining, "They are proud of their teams, their students, their cheerleaders, their pep club and, above all else, their school." Recognizing the community support, Grinnell was presented the sportsmanship award at the 1A Girls State Tournament. The award was an honor GHS deserved after displaying the highest sportsmanship standards. We worked together with fans and cheerleaders to attain such a respectable honor.

Changes Face Upper Classes

Under the instruction of Mr. Kelly Clark, the English department began in a completely new atmosphere. Students found new books awaiting them, a new room — the old art room, and a new teacher. For the seniors, this is the fourth English teacher they have had in four years.

Due to this circumstance the seniors covered a little of everything. The juniors were divided into two classes concentrating on book reports and grammar. Joel Beougher brought up some changes, "This is the first time I have had a man English teacher and we have fewer grades."

Some sophomores were enrolled in as many as three English courses. An added aspect was Modern Literature in which they mainly read classics. Lisa Schroeder commented, "The stories are harder to understand but I am getting more out of it." Oral Communications include sophomores with Mr. Clark's main objective, "To get them used to public speaking so their more important speeches are better."

Mr. Clark summarized the year, "If I can get students to work on something that they are interested in, they will generally work well in class and learn more."

Computers Dominate Interests

An increasing fad — computers are becoming more apparent in the world today. Grinnell is no exception as the students have the advantage of two computers. Head of the Business Department, Peggy Moore, felt most homes in the future would have a computer.

Mrs. Moore's work day included Accounting I and II, Typing, General Business, Office Practice, Computer Programming, and several independent studies. "All of these will help in the future in some way," explained Mrs. Moore.

An added assignment was for the Office Practice class to type the Tomahawk on stencil. They felt the pressure of deadlines while doing this.

Mrs. Moore chose Computer as her favorite course because "I'm always learning something and it is a mental challenge." Lisa Schmidt, who will major in business at college, reflected, "I think it's a field where there is always an opportunity for a job."

Increased Library Usage Pleases Librarian

A librarian's work is never finished. There is always the daily work of putting books and magazines on the shelves, typing and filing catalog cards, and the never ending task of updating the card catalog.

Mrs. Lynette Wolf, librarian, had the aid of Dorena Heier and Leann Hays. Without Dorena and Leann's help, Mrs. Wolf stated that she wouldn't have been able to give enough attention to everything she should.

With the economy the way it is, it is difficult to find the funds needed to purchase current media, but with the 'interlibrary loan' Mrs. Wolf was able to borrow current books, magazines, films, etc. from other libraries in Northwest Kansas.

"I am very pleased with the number of students using the library. In the past the library was used some, but now students are needing to use the library more because of book reports and term papers. We are also getting more use out of the 'interlibrary loan'," commented Mrs. Wolf.

Thumbing through the pages of a magazine looking for information to do a term paper on a specific topic are Darrell Rebarchek and Melvin Heier.

Stock Market Stirs Interest

As a state required course, Mrs. Lynette Wolf taught English II to the Sophomore Class and seven junior guys.

Both classes were exposed to a literature unit, library unit, they gave oral book reports, and wrote a two page term paper. The sophomores also gave demonstrations, did a journalism unit, writing unit and grammar unit.

When the sophomores were studying the newspaper, they imagined they had $10,000 to invest in some stock of their choice. "It was interesting to find out how the stock market worked and how it affected the different stocks," commented Rosalie Schwarz.

One of Dorena Heier's jobs as a library aid is to type the overdue book list at the end of every nine weeks.

Yearbook Rates First Class

Beginning the year, the 13 staff members and advisor, Mrs. Lynette Wolf, had last year's yearbook critiqued. Jill Ostmeyer had this to say about the first class rating, "I thought the critique was needed to see what areas needed improving, and how our book rated among other schools."

For the second year in a row, the Written Communications Class had students qualify for the Kansas Scholastic Press Association State Contest. Jacque Struckhoff received second place at State and first at Regionals in copy writing. Cindy Baker and Stephanie Bixenman placed second in copy writing and feature writing respectively at the Regional Contest. Receiving third place at Regionals in advertising was Mike Heier.

After the December edition of the Tomahawk, the staff, editor Stephanie Bixenman, and Mrs. Wolf decided to print the Tomahawk every six weeks instead of monthly. Co-editor, Missy Struckhoff explained, "We would have been able to have a better paper, and when deadlines came everyone wouldn't have to rush so much." The staff also wrote articles for the Grinnell Town and Country.

Requirements Change

Higher requirements aroused a greater interest in math classes. Two classes of math are required to graduate beginning with the Class of 1984, instead of one as in past years. Because of this requirement math classes, which are taught by Mrs. Sheila Johnson, contained a larger number of students.

General Math is offered for students wanting to review their basic math skills and usually consists of freshmen. Those desiring a higher level of math start their program with Algebra I. Life math skills can be refreshed by juniors and seniors who enroll in Consumer Math. Logic is developed in Geometry, which is very helpful in the computer field. Algebra II, one of the more advanced classes, is a continuation of Algebra I. Three years of advanced math are required for enrollment in Senior Math. Students in this class review skills learned in Algebra and are introduced to Trigonometry.

More students in math classes may indicate a trend toward "the basic" classes in the future for students at GHS.

Yvette goes through the steps of solving a proof in Geometry on the board.

Carol's bewildered look indicates Mrs. Johnson's explanation of a tough problem during Algebra II wasn't quite understood.

Duell Creates Diversity

Major changes took place in the Science department. New classes were offered and they were taught by a new instructor, Mr. Ted Duell. Science classes started one and a half weeks late due to not having a teacher at the beginning of the year. Nonetheless students still made the switch to Science classes from their previous ones when a teacher was hired.

Zoology, a branch of Biology, was a newly offered class dealing with different aspects of animal life. Psychology, another addition to last year's schedule, is the study of human and animal behavior. Biology and Chemistry students kept busy with the combination of labs, lectures, and workbooks. A more advanced class, Physics, is defined by Mr. Duell as "the basic science" and deals with the study of such areas as basic mechanics, heat, and electricity.

Adding new Science classes to the schedule enabled GHS to provide students with a greater variety and higher standard of classes.

Mark adjusts a bunsen burner during an experiment in which he and Tom are distilling water.

During Biology students read through their textbooks in search of answers to the questions they have been assigned.

Special Ed Aims At Career Choices

Working through the Colby Co-op Education Service, Mr. Robert Stephan worked with 11 high school students on their special learning problems. "We assist the kids with their subjects and work on perceptual skills," informed Mr. Stephan. He also added that they aim at each individual's vocational and career choices.

In Special Ed, Mrs. Weiser assists Peter and Melvin with their vocabulary words. Other paraprofessionals were Mrs. Mark Rueschhoff and Mrs. Tom Heinrich.

Yvonne busies herself with creative writing while Ms. Ruth Lares, the Gifted facilitator, instructs Steve Baalman, a seventh grader.

Unusual Sports Liven P.E.

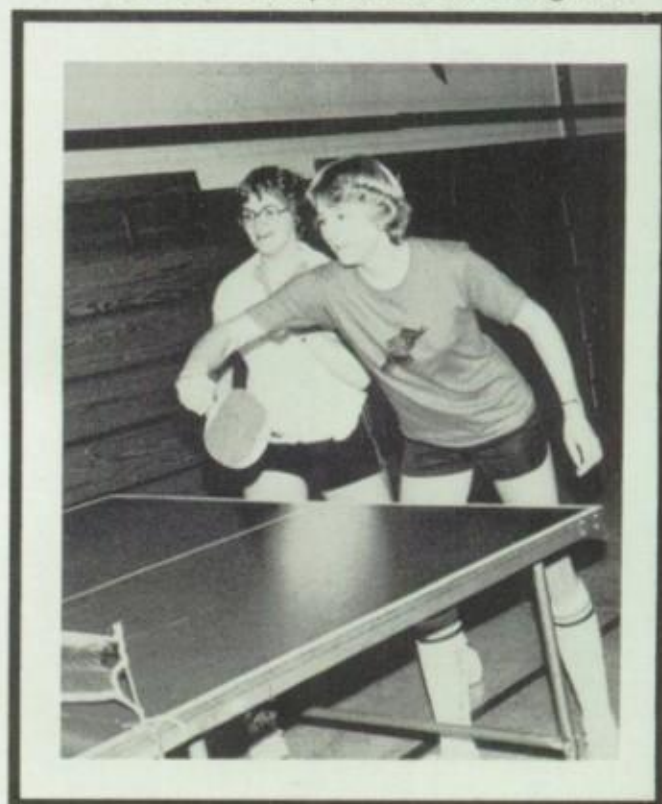

Dodgeball and basketball seemed to be the favorites of all activities in P.E. Tennis, weightlifting, softball, ping-pong, and archery were some of the other types of sports that were tried. Whenever possible, a tournament or contest was held for the sport. The freshmen also studied Health twice a week.

Mrs. Rose Wittman, a new teacher at school, remarked that she really enjoyed her job and being with the students. She participated in most of the activities, her favorite being weightlifting. "I really enjoy weightlifting because it helps to strengthen the students. When done along with a good physical fitness program, it will improve one's general health," explained Mrs. Wittman.

While the rest of the class plays basketball, Linda and Cynthia pair up for ping-pong doubles.

Miss Kopper helps the choir by mouthing the words as she directs.

Vocal Interest Rekindled

After being dropped for a year because of a lack of interest, the vocal class found its way back into the curriculum. Miss Velma Kopper instructed a class of 27 — 17 girls and 10 boys. The class was added when the school went from a six-hour to a seven-hour class schedule. There was extra room for the class, plus it was thought of as a necessity. Most of the vocal students were glad to have the class back, but some wished that it would be taken more seriously by those who enrolled. "The people that really want to be in there aren't getting anything out of the class because of the people that don't take it seriously," complained Diane Schroeder.

Some activities the class participated in were the league vocal clinic at Tribune, the Christmas and spring music programs, and vocal contest, where they performed as soloists, small groups, and the complete choir.

Singing "Do You Hear What I Hear?", the choir entertains the audience at the Christmas program.

During Sadie Hawkins week, Lisa practices her vocal solo for Regional contest, where she received a 1.

Drivers Education Plays Dual Role

Besides being a required class in which the students learn to drive, Drivers Ed also served as a study hall. After the first nine weeks of book work, Mr. Mickey Weiser regularly took two of his students to get actual driving experience on the road. Meanwhile, the remainder of the class used the time to get homework done. "I like it because I can get most of my homework done during school and I have more time at home to do other things," contributed Cynthia Schroeder.

JACQUE STRUCKHOFF

While filling up with gas, Mr. Weiser takes time to show Loretta and Angie how to check the oil. Laura uses the study hall to study for an upcoming test.

Sociology Makes Three

Ms. Cynthia Spencer, Social Science teacher, started her educational career teaching American History, Government, and Sociology.

Added to the class curriculum as a school requirement, Sociology is now taken by all sophomores since GHS now mandates three years of Social Sciences. Sociology is the study of human interaction, covering such topics as crime, aging, environment, and marriage.

"I learned how our U.S. Government works; I thought the different branches of government and the Amendments were particularly important," stated Linda Baalman of her government class.

Susan Lubbers commented on History, "I liked learning about things from a long time ago. The Civil War and when and why the Amendments were passed was really interesting. Things that are taken for granted now were fought for very hard."

Although Social Science was her main area of study, Ms. Spencer was also working toward a Counseling degree. Miss Pam Ingram, a certified counselor, came to the high school on Wednesdays to assist Ms. Spencer in some counseling duties, working mainly with the Seniors with "life after high school" information.

Changes Challenge Students

Each year students and faculty work together to make it through the year despite all the changes. The students found many new teachers and also classes altered. The seven-hour day was introduced to GHS for the first time. Stating his opinion was Mike Wessel, "I really didn't like having seven classes because there was more homework. It also makes it seem like a longer day."

Another difference found this year was at the start of the school year, a metals teacher or a science teacher had not yet been hired. Biology, taught by Mrs. Sheila Johnson, was the only science offered. Cheryl Baker stated, "They should have got a science teacher at the beginning so it could have been worked into the schedule. More kids might have got into the classes had it been offered when they enrolled."

Having a new principal was once again an adjustment for everyone to make. With Mr. Haffner, this made three different principals in four years for the senior class. New rules and regulations were just a few things to get used to each time a new one was hired. "It was a new change about every year. You did not know what to expect because of a new principal coming in," quoted Mike Heier.

Band Makes State After Rule Change

"Presenting the pride of Warrior country, the Grinnell High School marching band under the direction of Mrs. Dixie Williams and drum majorette Kim Struckhoff . . ." boomed the loud-speaker as the GHS band stepped off to a marching drill. Practicing for the football half times took many hours. "My fingers are cold. Do we have to do it again?" or "Have you ever tried to take history notes with frozen fingers?" could be heard on the often cold and wet mornings. In spite of the weather the band practiced and practiced until Mrs. Williams was pleased.

During the basketball season the sounds of "Celebration," "Boogie on Down," and "Chicago 8 to 5" could be heard during the many home half times. Before the Christmas break though, the band took time out for a Christmas concert. The band also followed the girls basketball team to Substate at Palco and State at Hays.

As a result of rule changes, the music contest was held differently. Soloists and ensembles performed at Hoxie, and later in the month the band performed at Colby. The band, which received a I and the soloists and ensembles which received I ratings went on to State competition at Bethany College in Lindsborg. After a long bus ride and an overnight stay at Salina, the band performed the next morning and received a II rating. The clarinet choir received a I as did Lisa Waldman with a contrabass solo. Other soloists also performed. "I thought it provided a lot more incentive for doing a good job at preparing for regionals, and state competition gave us something to work for," commented Mrs. Williams. She added "I thought we did an outstanding job and it was an enjoyable experience."

League band day was held in Grinnell with Sharon Springs, Cheylin, Brewster, and Tribune attending. Later a spring concert was held. The band also received first place for high school marching bands at the Grainfield Ag Festival.

Style Show Sums Up Year

"New York, New York" was the atmosphere set for the style show as all of the Home Ec classes and Bachelor Survival class modeled their projects they constructed throughout the year.

Mrs. Beatta Robben headed the Home Ec department, again, this year. She taught Home Ec I, II, III, IV, Homes and Furnishings and Bachelor Survival.

Home Ec I and II practiced the basics of homemaking, sewing and cooking, while Home Ec III studied child development and lined suits. Home Ec IV had the traditional mock wedding, tailored garments and cooked foreign foods. Susan Lubbers' comment on foreign foods was, "I thought the Italian food was better than the Oriental!"

Trying something new, the Bachelor Survival class made down-filled vests from a Frost Line Kit which most proudly showed off at the style show. Homes and Furnishing students are ready to begin construction on their dream homes in which they worked hard to plan and decorate during the year.

Schroeder Wins Top Honors

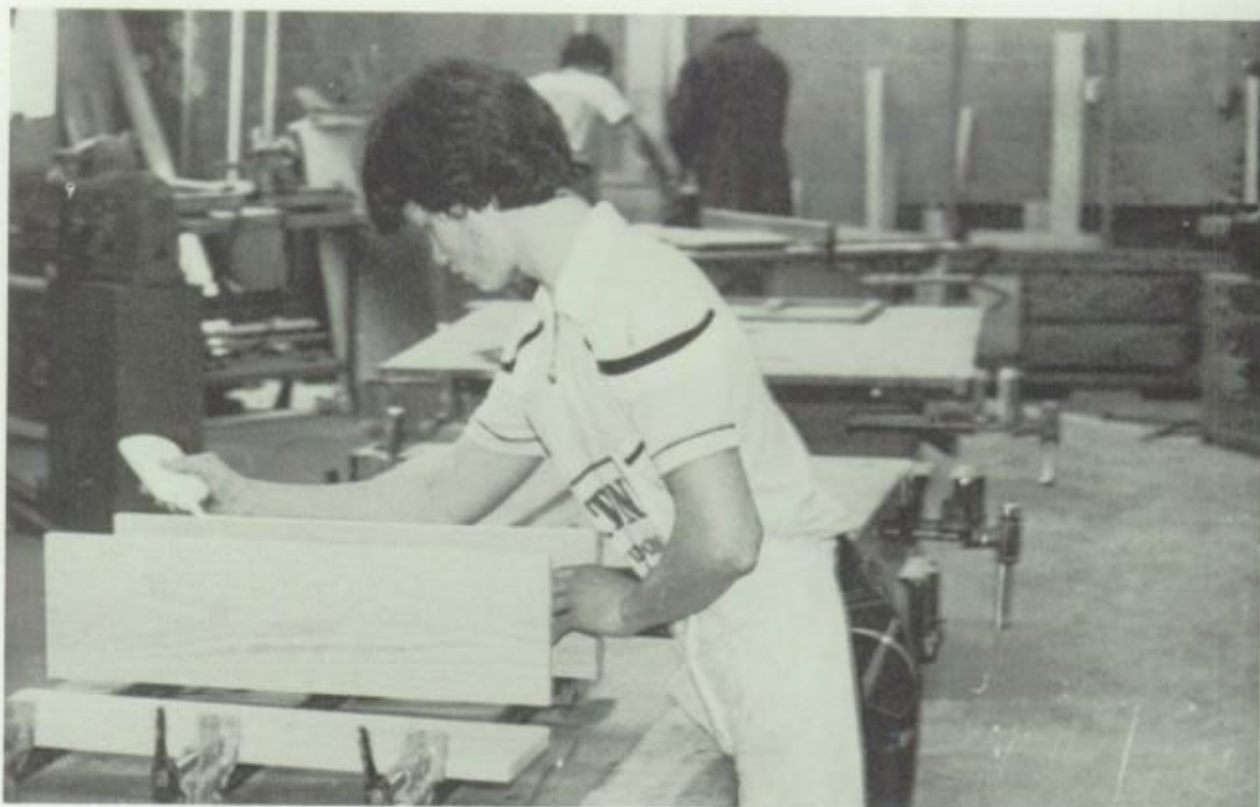

Mr. Hal Hays and Mr. Jim Wittman headed the Industrial Arts department. Due to not having an instructor there were no metals classes at the year's start.

Mr. Wittman arrived at the beginning of second semester, so four metals classes were added to the list of classes offered. The classes in the area of woodworking included Woods I, Woods II, Woods III, Woods IV, Girls Woods, and Mechanical Drawing. Metals I, Metals II, Metals III, and Metals IV were the metals classes.

The year was highlighted by taking the projects that were completed in time to the FHSU Industrial Arts Fair in Hays on April 30. Keith Schroeder received the highest award for GHS, a rosette on his motor puller.

Commenting on the year in general Mr. Wittman stated, "I came in the middle of the year and didn't know much about what was going on. I will do a lot of things different next year since it will be my first full year of teaching."

Stuco Makes It Through Tough Year

Mark Suter, as Student Council President, along with Steph Bixenman as Vice-President and Cindy Ostmeyer as Secretary/Treasurer led Stuco through a tough year.

Starting out the year, Stuco readied themselves for Spirit Week during Homecoming. This turned out to be a battle between classes with color war days.

"Let's Make a Turkey" was the theme for Thanksgiving. A prize was given to Darren Racette and Mike Waldman for Best Turkey.

Christmas was next on the agenda when Stuco sponsored a party which included two films, "Abbot and Costello" and "Bang the Drum Slowly," a gift exchange, and refreshments.

Sadie Hawkins Week brightened the spirits of the students with the box lunches and games, followed by a dance on Friday night with "Stardust" performing.

Although things started out slow and there were some disagreements at times, Mr. Haffner seemed satisfied with the accomplishments of Stuco. He stated, "I thought there was excellent leadership and they really helped me get adjusted to the ways of the school. I think this year was just great!"

Homecoming Breaks School Tradition

"I think the attitude of our community, as well as that of the students and staff, makes Homecoming the memorable event it is!" remarked Mr. Emery Hart.

Carrying out the tradition of Spirit Week for the third consecutive year, members of the GHS student body dressed as little kids, Monday, to get the spirit flowing with the theme "Secure a Warrior Victory."

"Sock it to 'em," and "We Nose We'ze the Best," followed with students coming to school with "wild and crazy" socks on. Knowing the unusual nose contest was waiting for them at noon hour, the students expressed feelings of embarrassment towards their noses. Melvin Heier unanimously won the nose contest. Remembering how he felt at this embarrassing moment at noon hour Mel reflected, "I was surprised at the rowdy reaction of the student body and am glad it isn't an everyday contest."

Adding to the week of fun-filled activities and competition each class and faculty decorated with their color. The sophomores received first place with orange, freshmen second with yellow, the juniors and seniors tied for third with green and blue, and last but not least the faculty conquered last place with pink.

Because of strong winds the bonfire was cancelled Thursday, consequently was burned immediately following the parade at 2:00 p.m., October 9. A crowd of students and alumni joined in to wish the Warriors on to Victory. Donna Feldt expressed her feelings on the bonfire being held during the day, "It was different having it during the day because it wasn't dark, but yet most still enjoyed it."

Ending the week-long activities an open dance was held after the Warriors defeated the Healy Eagles, 31-10. Disc jockey Mike Cooper provided the entertainment at the open dance in the old gym.

Homecoming 1981 was memorable for all involved; the activities inspired enthusiasm and unity in the school.

It really is one of the best in this area. We also feel a deep pride in our band which performed at half time," concluded Mr. Emery Hart, superintendent of schools.

Afterschool Special

Keeping fit is important to several employees of our school system as they exercise in extra-curricular activities. Sonny Weinhardt's familiar face has been seen on the court officiating for 28 years. Although the exercise and money is a factor, Sonny refs because "it's the satisfaction I get out of doing something for the young people." Devoting time and energy in their weightlifting program are Larry Morel and Jan Pruitt. Along with assisting GHS athletes, they started to lift to break personal habits; nonetheless, once they started there was no quitting. Later, they found lifting relaxing and it also gave them the feeling of self-satisfaction when they set goals and improved while striving to reach them.

Having spare time before their activities begin, the junior guys go to H & R Standard. Jim Gormley and Steve Tholen shoot a game of pool; thus, win or lose, the atmosphere is filled with excitement. Showing off her missing link cube, which she received for Christmas is Amy Swart. This along with the rubiks cube has become a popular challenge for many.

Building a town with pride, the Youth Pride Committee finds time outside of school to earn money to contribute for developments in Grinnell. Lisa Schroeder, Cecilia Goetz, and Cindy Ostmeyer count the day's receipts after having worked at their bake sale.

Working part-time is necessary for many students to gain experience as well as to provide extra spending money. Helping with custodian duties is Dorena Heier. She got her job through the CETA Program. Bonnie Hayes works at IGA in Oakley as a checker. Bonnie works on weekends plus both girls work after school. Money plays an important role, yet they work also to occupy their spare time.

Never would our GHS activities be complete if we lacked the support of our fan club. Bringing in their seat cushions for the four basketball games ahead are Bill and Harriett Bixenman. They represent only a portion of our loyal crowd as we have Randy Struckhoff who never misses a game. "He is a super fan; you can always catch him yelling and supporting the GHS teams," commented Mickey Weiser. "I think a heck of a lot of Randy as a person and as a fan."

Afterschool Special

"What are you doing this week-end?" This is a customary phrase as many friends gather and head to Oakley for pizza and a show. After "pigging out" on pizza, Mike Heier and Joel Beougher participate in the pacman electronic game. Then on to the theater Monique Struckhoff takes a break and buys some popcorn to munch on during the show. When asked why GHS people go to Oakley for their pleasure, Carol Beckman bluntly replied, "There's nothing better to do!"

What do the Sophomores and Freshmen do on week-ends? Well, the popular atari electronic games have captured the interest of many, including Roger Bixenman. Other friends gather at each other's house talking, listening to music and basically just goofing around.

Working on machinery catches the interest of Pete Schlageck and Gene Geist. Along with wanting to improve their engines, these guys like to work with their hands as a hobby in their free time.

Free time to do nothing doesn't come often, but when it arrives it is spent trying to relax. Barbie Zimmerman catches some sleep on the bus after cheering at a ballgame, while Maureen Baalman relaxes with a book.

Performing different jazz routines is Rosalie Schwarz. Taking lessons from Sheryl Schwarz, she has danced for eight years. In their spare time, most of the guys, including Stan Schoendaler, go hunting or shoot baskets.

Afterschool Special

Responsibilities of a teacher don't end at 3:30 each day. Attending school events as a sponsor or a spectator keeps the teachers involved along with the student body. Sponsoring the school dances are one priority as Mr. Kelly Clark and Mr. Mickey Weiser sell tickets at the Snoball dance. Not having a choice of whether to attend, the faculty make the most of the Homecoming dance. Along with sponsoring dances, each teacher has his class or club which they sponsor as Mrs. Beata Robben organizes the Freshmen during their t-shirt sales.

Having a home game is hectic as someone has to take tickets at the gate. Who else to take the job but the loyal faculty! Mrs. Sheila Johnson has this privilege during a basketball game. After watching the action, Mrs. Dixie Williams plays the trombone in the band during the intermissions. So, not all pleasure is found in the activities.

Staying in shape are Mrs. Peggy Moore and Mrs. Rose Wittman as they jog a couple of miles each day during their free planning period. When asked why they run Mrs. Moore answered, "Running makes me feel good physically and mentally." Mrs. Wittman concluded in saying, "I like running with a partner and Mrs. Moore keeps me going."

Within all the school activities, the faculty manage to live a personal life also. Expressing his excitement is "Papa" Mickey Weiser. A constant smile was placed on his face as he proudly announced the arrival of his son, Marcus. Tuning pianos plays as a pastime for Mr. Ted Duell. Not letting GHS direct his life style, he makes time to enjoy himself playing his music.

Acting a little crazy sometimes follows the role of a faculty member. Good-naturedly, Mr. Larry Morel and Miss Michela Goll involuntarily participate in a skit performed at pep rally. Seen also at mysterious places is Mrs. Lynette Wolf as she sneaks around GHS looking for unusual pictures to snap.

Sophomores Sponsor White Christmas

Finally the night was here for the annual Snoball dance. Party goers seemed excited as they walked through a fireplace-lit room and then down a snow-fenced lane lined with Christmas trees. The sophomores had been working all day to get their decorations up in time. Although the theme was "White Christmas" there was not any snow outside, but the temperature was cold enough. In the middle of the dance senior Diana Moore was announced Queen and sophomore Roger Bixenman was named King. The dance was held in the old high school gym on December 19, 1981 from 9:00 to 12:00 with Mike Cooper providing the music.

Christmas excitement was seen throughout the high school on December 23 as it was the day for the Christmas Party and the last day of school before the holidays. Beginning at 1:30 Santa Claus (Sonny Weinhardt) opened the Christmas party by distributing the gifts to all the students for the Christmas exchange. After the opening of gifts, refreshments were served by the Stuco before the films "Abbott and Costello" and "Bang the Drum Slowly" were shown.

Teamwork Builds Champion Team

"Face it . . . we're awesome!" chanted the volleyball girls as they headed for the State Tournament and another 1-A State Championship! Awesome was a fitting description for the champs who captured the third State Title for GHS, the second in three years.

During their fourth year of coaching together, Head Coach Mrs. Peggy Moore and Assistant Coach Mr. Jan Pruitt led their teams to winning seasons. The A-Team finished the season with a 26-2 record, both losses at the hands of Goodland, the 4-A State Champion. The Warriors won every tournament they competed in, including the Lenora, Oakley, Liberty League, Regional, Sub-State, and State Tournaments. The B-Team's season was highlighted by being champion in the league tournament and runner-up in the Oakley Tournament.

Cheryl Baker, Stephanie Bixenman, and Jill Ostmeyer were All-League selections, and Cheryl was also named to the All-Tournament Team at the Oakley Tournament.

Entering the State Tournament, the Warriors, seeded third, won their first two games in two matches apiece and advanced to the finals to capture the State Title after two hard-fought matches against top-seeded St. Paul.

According to Coach Moore, three main qualities of the team carried them to the top. "Throughout the season, we had super teamwork and senior leadership. As the season progressed, all of the players improved so they were equally dependable, especially at State, and we didn't have to rely on one person," explained Coach Moore.

First Year Coach Leads Teams to State

Led by first year coach Larry Morel, the Grinnell Redmen Roadrunners girls team took the 1A State Championship for the fourth consecutive year. Leading the team were returning State Champ Cindy Baker, Bev Heier, and Lisa Schroeder who placed second, fifth, and ninth, respectively.

Mike Heier became the first boys individual State Champion in Grinnell history by capturing first place at the 1A State meet with a run of 9:56.8. "It was one of the greatest feelings in my life and a perfect end to my high school cross country career," stated Mike. His first place finish helped push the boys team to a close fourth place, only 7 points from a State trophy and team medals.

The season, though, had its ups and downs. GRRR ran over 4700 miles in spite of the weather which was often cold and rainy. Morning runs were started with team members only half awake. Other teams started copying the customary GRRR in the back window by enviously taping up PRRR or MEOW. At times there were differences between team members and with the coach, yet after working these out and as the season progressed, team spirit soared.

Summing up the season Coach Morel stated, "It was a very challenging and rewarding season."

Inexperience Hurts Football Season

Grinnell Warriors advanced to the football playoffs for the second year in a row. Even with the odds against them at the beginning of the season because of inexperience and another new coach, the Warriors went ahead to become the District 2 Champs. "Lack of experience hurt us, but through the year we improved," explained Mark Suter, senior and returning letterman. Only other lettermen were Darren and Rocky Racette, Anthony Wolf, Jim Gormley, and Mike Zollinger.

A district record of 4-0 advanced the Warriors to the playoffs. In the first round of competition Grinnell played Brewster with Brewster coming out on top 26-0. "We did a better job of holding them the second time," commented Jim Gormley after an earlier loss of 51-14 to Brewster.

There were four squad members selected to all-league. Those selected were Mark Suter as a linebacker, Mike Zollinger as an offensive end, Jim Gormley as a half-back, and Rocky Racette as a defensive tackle. "It was a big surprise to get all-league tackle," stated Rocky.

JV ended their season with a winning record of 3 wins, 0 losses while the varsity closed at a 5-5 mark.

"Together We're Better" Unifies Pep Club

At the beginning of the year, to build unity, the GHS Pep Club strived on the theme: "Together We're Better." Working together as one, their efforts and enthusiasm paid off. The concise cheerleaders, an outstanding pep club, and the FAN-fabulous fans bloated with pride as they were awarded the honor of the 1982 Sportsmanship Award at the Girls' 1A State Basketball Tournament.

Playing a big part in the accomplishments of the pep club Mrs. Wolf, six year cheerleading and pep club sponsor, with the assistance of Ms. Spencer, expressed her feelings on the importance of pep club, "A pep club helps to encourage the teams, to organize the fans and it makes the cheerleaders' job easier. A good pep club member has to make alot of sacrifices with very little reward. The biggest and hardest job of pep club is to build spirit and pride in the school."

Pep club is not all fun and games! Dedication, poster parties, long bus rides and pep pals added to the tramas of a faithful pep club member.

Coming from a school smaller than Grinnell, Leann Hays remarked on her impression of the GHS Pep Club, "Having a pep club is definitely an asset! I feel that being involved in pep club helps pull everyone together to work for the same goals. Grinnell's Pep Club is really outstanding."

"The pep club accomplished many things this year. We made the first pep club float, invested in a button press and made a new Grinnell Warrior banner. We definitely accomplished our motto: "Together We're Better," reflected Pep Club President, Jeannie Hansen, as she summed up the year.

Performing "FAME" Highlights Season

What is cheerleading all about? . . . hard work, unity, pep rally after pep rally, excitement on top of exhaustion, making new friends, discovering the real you, and being the best that you can be . . . are a few of the assets that make cheerleading what it is at GHS.

Highlighting the year for the GHS cheerleaders was receiving the honor of the sportsmanship award at the State Basketball Tournament. The cheerleaders also performed a routine at the halftime of the boys' State championship game. "It was the most exciting event of my whole Junior year," exclaimed Linda Baalman, when asked how she felt about performing and cheering at the state tournament, "I wouldn't have missed it for the world!"

Three members of the squad were named to the All-Tournament Cheerleading Squad at the Oberlin Invitational Basketball Tournament. Monique Struckhoff, Barbie Zimmerman, and Merce Baalman were named to the six-member squad.

When you say "Yes!" to become a part of GHS cheerleading you are saying "Yes!" to the challenge of being the best . . . to the fun and smiles and hard work of being an outstanding cheerleader . . . to the feelin'-good joys of new-found friendship.

Team Lacks Consistency

Abruptly ending their season in the semifinals at Regionals, the boys basketball team lost all hope of going to State. They ended with a 10-7 record which Coach Mickey Weiser was "pleased with it, though on the other hand, I felt we were a better team than what it showed."

Losing to Brewster in the finals in the Oberlin Tournament, the Warriors brought home a second place trophy. Defeating only Sharon Springs, the Warriors were third in their league.

The Warriors had a pattern. First they would win two, then lose two, then win two again. Coach Weiser felt the thing they lacked most was consistency. They also had some very close, exciting games, for instance, the Quinter game. There were five seconds left and the boys were behind by one. They threw the ball in, passed it around to Mike Heier, he shot, and it went in. The game was over and Grinnell won, 54-53.

"The two seniors, Mike and Mark, had good leadership," commented Coach Weiser. Mike was selected for the All Tourney Team at Oberlin and was an All League Selection. Mark was selected for All Area Team Honorable Mention in the Salina Journal and in the Hays Daily News.

Coach Weiser expressed his feelings on Grinnell's future basketball team, "In order to be successful in future years, there will have to be a change of attitude, more dedication, and leadership."

The B-team was a very large group. There were 16 on the team which was coached by Kelly Clark and Jim Wittman. They ended the season with a 7-7 record. The freshmen took third at the Wheatland Invitational. Doug Blank and Doug Robben were picked for the All Tourney Teams.

CAROL BECKMAN

"All for one and one for all, winners never quit and quitters never win, so let's win," was a ritual recited in unison by the girls basketball team before each contest. It proved to be a winning philosophy as the girls brought home the second place trophy from the State Tournament.

By defeating Dorrance in an overtime game at the Sub-state finals in Palco, history was made. This was the first time ever a girls basketball team from GHS earned a berth to the State Tournament, but the girls didn't stop there. Under the direction of first year coach Michela Goll, Grinnell advanced to the State finals.

"Go for Gross," was chanted by many on the way to the first round game at Hays High Gymnasium. An easy victory, 58-35, was obtained over Madison and the ultimate goal of playing in Gross Memorial Coliseum had now been achieved.

In the second round Grinnell was victorious over a previously undefeated Randolph-Blue Valley team by a score of 43-33, earning themselves a spot in the State finals.

Dreams for a third straight State Championship on the year were diminished upon a stunning 54-76 loss to Natoma in the final game of the season. The Warriors played out their season to the last possible game, but were unable to stop the hot shooting Natoma team who shot a blistering 64 percent from the field: Coach Goll was nothing but proud of her team though. She stated, "I'm so glad I was allowed to be a part of this group. Girls like this make a first year coaching job a dream come true."

Grinnell ended its best season ever with a 21-2 record. Natoma may have taken away the State Championship, but an accomplishment was made which will remain forever. History was made.

Injuries Plague Wrestling Team

"Losing members because of injuries was the main burden to the GHS grapplers but the 1981-82 season was quite an experience. The year was definitely not a loss and there was a lot gained from it," was Coach Larry Morel's impression of the Warrior wrestling season.

With first year coaches Mr. Morel and Mr. Hart, the team had a lot of pride. Showing effort and determination, four wrestlers finished the season at Regionals. Craig Tuttle, Darren Racette, Cliff Wilson, and Pat Baalman were defeated before final competition.

Their goal of getting at least one or two boys to state was not reached. Rocky Racette's dream of state was deteriorated with back problems when he spent two weeks in the hospital. Stating his feelings, Rocky quoted, "Not being able to wrestle was upsetting. I wish I could have helped the team at the tournaments."

Craig and Darren, the two seniors on the team, had showed strong leadership throughout the season. Being the only member to receive a medal, Craig was outstanding. Reflecting back, Craig stated, "The highlight of the year was placing first at Phillipsburg. Wrestling has helped me most in self-confidence and being able to accept loss as an individual instead of as a team like other sports."

Tournaments proved to be low-scoring for the team but with very few people, scores did not come in too quickly. Mr. Hart commented, "I enjoyed the boys' hard work and good attitudes. They were a very close team and seemed to never give up in spite of the few there were."

Clown Awards Top Off Activities

Many students look forward to a fun week of school during the spring. Sadie Hawkins Week which was put on by Stuco, started on Tuesday, March 23, 1982.

Overalls were the most popular outfit worn on Backwards and Clash Day. Wednesday was 50's Day as students and faculty went back to bobby socks and slicked-back hair. Many clown outfits were seen on Thursday as everyone was being judged for the "Best Dressed Clown." Jill Ostmeyer quoted on the activities, "I liked having the clown judging as it was a change of pace to have something different than the penny-a-vote contest."

Signing T-shirts and wearing crazy hats started Friday's activities. The box lunches were auctioned off at noon. Prizes were awarded for the best decorated boxes.

Fun and games were held in the afternoon. Students were entertained with orange and lifesaver relays, egg rolling contest, scooter races, and many other games.

Mr. Haffner was the main target as students gathered around $50 to have five pies thrown at him in the pie throw. Mr. Clark and Mr. Duell were also victims of the pies.

"Stardust" played music for the dance from 9:00 to 12:00 p.m. Couples were hitched by the preacher, Curtis Brungardt and the clown awards were announced at intermission.

DONNA FELDT

Throwing pies at Mr. Haffner and eating the box lunches highlighted the fun-filled day.

Mark Ottley and Amy Swart share the award of "Best Dressed Clown" and Monique Struckhoff was the "Most Original Clown."

Sales Highest Ever

Home Ec Club, as we all know, is full of traditions such as having a Pizza Party, the Easter Tea, Secret Pals, a Skating Party, and selling Current Stationery. "This was the best year on Current sales and it surprised me!" exclaimed Mrs. Beatta Robben, the Club's sponsor.

With 50 members, including guys and girls alike, the Club sold over $2000 worth and cleared a little under $900. Mrs. Robben added, "Each year I think we can't sell as much as the year before and we do anyway!" Part of the money helped pay for the Skating Party at Colby and $500 went towards an outdoor skating slab which will be put in the city park.

Officers included Jill Ostmeyer as President, Missy Struckhoff as Vice-President, Steph Bixenman as Secretary/Treasurer, Susan Lubbers as Stuco Representative, and Mark Suter and Jacque Struckhoff as Social Chairpersons.

Juniors Bring City Life to Grinnell

Entering the banquet at 5:30 on April 17, one found uniqueness and excitement while walking down the streets of New York at the Junior Senior Prom of 1982. "The artwork on the Broadway posters was super!," stated Mrs. Williams, "We were lucky to have such talented artists in our class." Mama Leonie's Restaurant, Macy's Department Store and a big New York, New York mural added to the decorations.

Pork cutlets, green bean gourmet, potato supreme, bread sticks, and sherbet dessert served as the meal. Carol Beckman expressed her feelings about the meal, "A lot of people didn't like parts of it but I thought it was really good. We had a lot of compliments."

When reflecting back, Mark Ottley commented, "I thought we spent a lot of precious time arguing over personal opinions while decorating. I thought we would never succeed but with the cooperation of everyone Saturday it turned out successful."

Together: Two Tie for Seventh Place

Hard work and dedication was seen throughout the season as Coach Larry Morel took over as head coach for both boys and girls track teams. He was assisted by coaches Jan Pruitt and Peggy Moore. Managers were Jill Ostmeyer and Cheryl Wolf.

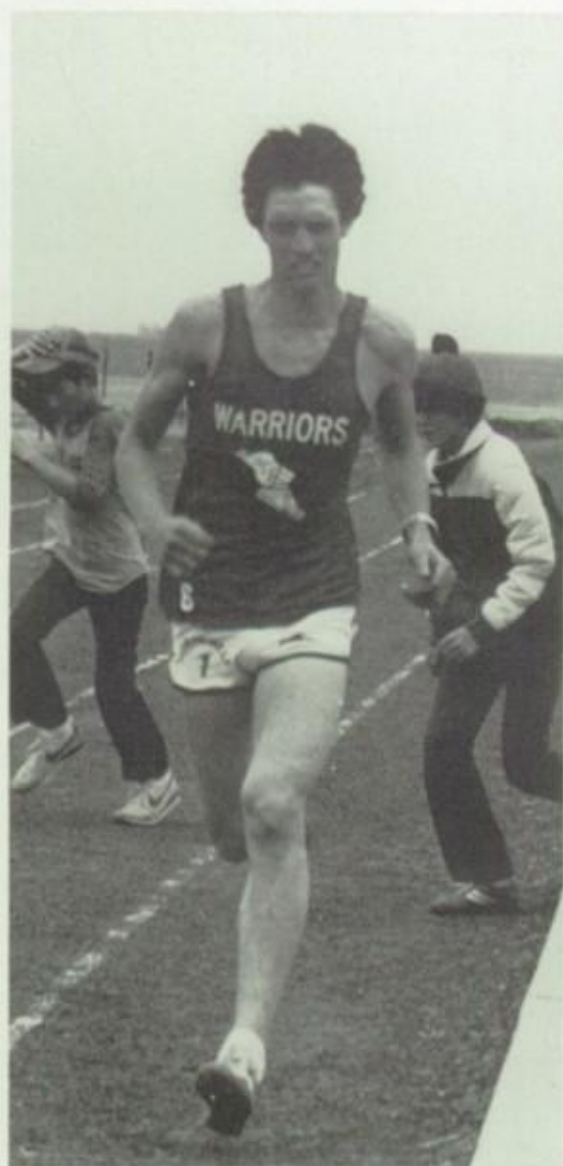

Through all the hard speed workouts, long miles, cold, rain, and the heat, the boys placed at most of the track meets, considering the amount of boys out for track was only eleven.

Three seniors led the pack until league when only the seniors went on to Regionals. Both Craig Tuttle and Mike Heier ran the 3200 meter but Craig only took fourth but Mike placed first to go on to state. Mike also placed first in the 1600 meter at Regionals. Mark Suter with his first in the 800 meter run went on to state to take a fifth place and Mike a first in the 1600 and second in the 3200. Together these boys tied for seventh at state.

MERCEDES BAALMAN

Doug and Curtis handoff the baton in the 3200 meter relay which placed third at league.

Craig strives for second place as he finishes the 3200 meter at Brewster.

Mike received first in 1600 meter and second in the 3200 meter while Mark finished fifth in the 800 meter at state. Together these two boys placed in the overall competition with twenty points for a tie of seventh place.

Coach Larry Morel thinks ahead into future events while attending the state track meet.

Sophomore Roger Baalman ran his best time of 11:15 in the 2-mile and a 5:25 in the 1-mile, but did not qualify for regionals.

Hard work and endurance is shown as Doug runs the 880.

Heiers, Struckhoff Lead Team

Throughout the year, the girls' athletic teams had compiled a record of high placings in State competition. The track team also had dreams of winning State, but they never thought they would walk away with a first place finish of 72 points, leaving the second place team 46 points behind. It was the second State Track Title earned by the girls in three years.

With the determination of fulfilling a dream, the girls won eight of the ten meets they attended. The two meets they lost, Ellis and Hoxie, was to Oakley by a few points both times. Defeating the 1982 3A State Track Champs, Norton, by one point at the Hill City Meet was one of the most exciting meets, along with winning League, Regionals, and State.

Head coach, Mr. Larry Morel, had this to say about those who qualified for state: "I felt Monique tried as hard as she could, but she just didn't have it that day. I think that Cindy was just starting to run like the Cindy of old. I just wish that the season would have been longer to bring out Cindy's ability. She finally started to run without hurting. We had some trouble with handoffs in the 400 meter relay during the season, but Merce really showed good running under pressure during state. Steph showed leadership as a senior in the relay and the events she was in throughout the season. I was expecting Bev to do as good as she did at State because no one had beaten her all year in the 100 or 200 meter dash. Christy was a freshman, but she performed well in the 100 and 200 meter dashes and the 400 meter relay. I was expecting Jacque to win the 800 and 1600 meter runs, and she did it setting new state records in both events!"

CINDY BAKER

Finding stiffer competition at State, Jacque strides out in the 1600 meter to a record setting time of 5:02.8. Jacque also set a new state record in the 800 meter with a time of 2:18.1.

Practice pays off as Merce and Steph manage to have a smooth handoff in the 400 meter relay at State which allowed them a second place finish. The Heier sisters, Christy and Bev, were a major part of the relay.

Doris is determined to have a fast split in the mile relay at Regionals in Colby, where they ran their fastest time of 4:33.

After placing first and second in both the 100 and 200 meter dashes, the Heier sisters share the glory of the gold at the State Meet at Jim Hershberger Track in Wichita.

Attempting to clear 5'2", Monique puts her best effort at heart at the State meet in Wichita. Her best this year was 5'4" at the first meet.

The 1982 1A STATE TRACK CHAMPIONS are Mercedes Baalman, Bev Heier, Stephanie Bixenman, Monique Struckhoff, Chrsty Heier, Cindy Baker, and Jacque Struckhoff.

“The Beginning, My Friends” Dedicated to Graduates

After 13 years of school, approximately 16,380 hours of seven-hour school days, a simple hour-long graduation ceremony on May 18 brought the seniors' high school life to an end. Senior Lisa Waldman highlighted the entertainment for the evening by presenting a song she had composed herself especially for Graduation entitled “The Beginning, My Friends,” which she dedicated to her fellow classmates.

With blue and silver as their colors, the seniors gave their parents corsages of blue-tipped silk roses. Graduation began at 7:00 p.m., an hour earlier than past years. Cindy Baker and Cliff Wilson arrived earlier yet to hand out programs. Jacque Struckhoff and Joel Beougher were chosen to usher the graduates in.

Other entertainment besides Lisa's song included musical performances by the eighth grade and the I-rated clarinet choir.

Along with the VFW, Alumni, Citizenship, and Honor Student awards, a new scholarship award was given. Jeannie Hansen was the recipient of the $500 Birdene Jane Cox Scholarship.

To some of the 22 seniors, the years had passed too quickly, and they were sad to leave. However, the majority of the class was glad to be “free at last” and looked forward to the future.

Assorted Faculty Fills Student Demands

Students and faculty are the most important elements of any school system. The way in which they relate creates our school atmosphere. GHS strives for an atmosphere of learning, spirit, and respect.

A variety of teachers were found at Grinnell High. Donna Feldt thought there were too many first year teachers as we had four. On the other hand, Monique Struckhoff remarked, "Student teachers would be neat to have but the experienced teachers are still the best." Putting things differently, Lisa Waldman commented, "I get along well with the teachers who are patient and understanding." Overall, one could say the assorted teachers fit each student's needs.

These teachers are people who feel pressure and have homework. With the competency tests more prominent the pressure is added. Some feel if the students fail it's the teacher's fault. Sheila Johnson expressed her views, "New courses were added to refresh juniors but I don't think their failure is totally our responsibility. Sure there is tension but some kids just don't try."

Administrative work was closely associated with the students as they attended board meetings or talked problems over with Mr. Hart or Mr. Haffner. "We are responsible for carrying out the board's wishes, yet making our own decisions," stated Mr. Haffner. These include discipline, enrollment, and cutting down the number of buses.

Our school board members cannot be overlooked. They affect student's life by their decisions. An art teacher was excluded which bothered some kids. Perhaps the main concern for the board in recent years has been in the declining enrollment. As enrollment declines so does the state funds, thus affecting the purchasing expense for the year. Nevertheless, Haffner added, "The final decisions try to be the best for everyone involved."

Seniors Earn Honors

Participation was the key to the much success the Class of 1982 gained throughout its high school years. Of all the State Championships taken during the four years they were in high school, only one team lacks a member of this class. Equally as high as their athletic achievements were their academic accomplishments. Nearly half of the class made the honor roll every year with the greater percentage of that half making the high honor roll.

Class events seemed to always end successfully. Mrs. Sheila Johnson, the class sponsor for four years, felt the reasons were "originality, advanced planning, and cooperation of all." Uniqueness and originality were definitely displayed in their dances and decorations. Who else but the Class of '82 would think of having an Oriental Snowball? The seniors also took much pride in the building of floats during Homecoming. The class received an honorable mention placing on their Freshman float; then built up to a second place finish their Sophomore year and first place finishes the remaining two years. The class highlight of Sadie Hawkins Week came their Freshman year when they somehow managed to defeat every other class in the volleyball tournament.

One very important factor that aids in building winning floats and giving good dances is money. Money was never a problem for the class as it was in abundance from the first class projects to the buying of graduation gowns. Many concession stands, ingenious sales pitches, and participation enabled the class to build upon their riches every year.

Participation, which was the key to success as a class, should prove to be just as successful for each individual member in later life. Upon graduating the class left behind a small part of the many experiences that they will have during their life time, but they took with them the many fond memories they have of those experiences. The past four years have helped to mold each individual into his own person giving that person the knowledge and characteristics which will aid him as he adventures out to find his role in life, his place in the world. Participation, that was the key.

Doing homework, attending ballgames, and deciding on Prom occupied much of the juniors' time. By decorating the old gym green, the Class of '83 tied for third with the seniors on color war day. Although hunting would have sparked more interest, the junior guys joined together to show much enthusiasm as they cheered on Melvin Heier to win the "Best Nose" contest during Spirit Week.

For their determining money making project, the class sold magazines. As top salesperson, Jeff Albers commented, "It was easy to sell 81 subscriptions because of my job at the Triple T. I was surprised that I was third highest in western Kansas in sales."

Receiving a free bonus on their class rings, which arrived early in the fall, the juniors decided to go with Balfour Company. Carol Beckman drew the packet containing a free Celestrum ring. Deciding to break the tradition, the Class of '83 had the same rings but the choice of square or round stones.

Sophs Win In Orange

"Receiving first place for decorating the balconies in orange on Color War Day followed by a second place finish on our Homecoming float was exciting for us," commented Lisa Schroeder. She also added, "I feel our Homecoming at Grinnell is one of the best around. It is something to look forward to and even the parents get involved."

Following tradition, the Sophomore Class sponsored the Snoball Dance, held December 19, with the theme of "White Christmas."

Cecilia Goetz and Connie Wolf had this to say about their class, "It takes a while to get everyone together, but once we get it together, our projects turn out good."

Concessions and T-shirts Orient Freshmen

As a person looks into the lives of freshmen, one would probably think they live a boring life. What do freshmen do on Saturday nights? They are not old enough to drive or go with an older brother or sister, but they don't like to stay home, either. Most of them do stay at home and watch T.V. or read a book. Going to a friend's house or babysitting is also spent by a few on a dull, non-exciting evening.

Running the concession stand during the home football games gave the Freshman Class the feeling of being in high school. They sold Warrior baseball jerseys to help them build funds for future endeavors. The outstanding sales person was Christy Heier with 31 t-shirts.

Homecoming was an exciting part of the year for the Class of '85 as they placed second on Color War Day with yellow as their color. Using Fred Flintstone on their float earned them a fourth place finish. Stan Schoendaler commented on participating in the Homecoming activities, "It was fun and exciting. Our float was pretty good, but I hope it is better next year."

Summing up her first year of high school Christy Heier quoted, "I felt like we were included in the excitement of the events and also accepted as a part of GHS."

Do world affairs affect the atmosphere at GHS? When reviewing the year, the talk of wars, communism, and Reaganomics seemed to frighten many people around Grinnell. Changes throughout the time of the world took place as well as additions and changes to our community.

Being drafted was one of the major effects on the young men. The talk of war was like a dream but no one knew when the U.S. could be part of one. On April 2, the war between Argentina and Great Britain over the Falkland Islands broke out. "Peaceful means is the only way to settle any conflict. The U.S. should do its best to stay out," stated Mr. Haffner. He added, "When it first broke out, it definitely frightened me."

Reagonomics was strong this year. Our president's concerns were based mostly around interest rates, lower inflation, tax cuts, and unemployment. He was mostly trying to get economy back on its feet.

One of our former citizens, Sister Kenneth Struckhoff, who had spent most of her life in Nicaragua with missionary work, was forced out by Gorilla officers pushing communism through the country. This meant a lot to her and having relatives in Grinnell, our community was effected tremendously by the talk of communism. Sr. Kenneth talked to many people about her experiences. Mike Heier, after listening to her in CYO class, explained, "Sr. Kenneth had to have a lot of care for the people over there to stay. Her talk made me realize communism really is present and it is very frightening."

Prince Charles and Lady Diana brought a change into the world with their Royal Wedding. "Lady Di and Prince Charles set the image of a 'perfect couple'. Many of us dream of living in a fairy-tale, but it came true for this couple and the whole world was a witness. It was like pulling the whole world together to celebrate this special occasion of the 'perfect couple'," was Monique Struckhoff's impression of it.

The work of planning a Space Shuttle also took place throughout the year. The orbiting space station will be used to fly from planet to planet in the future. Being launched from earth and its successful return was completed this year. Eventually the talk of civilization on the moon is being considered.

Publishing the Town and Country Newspaper was a big accomplishment for the community of Grinnell. With the work of various citizens, the paper was a big success. The paper benefited young and old as well as out of towners who subscribed to it.

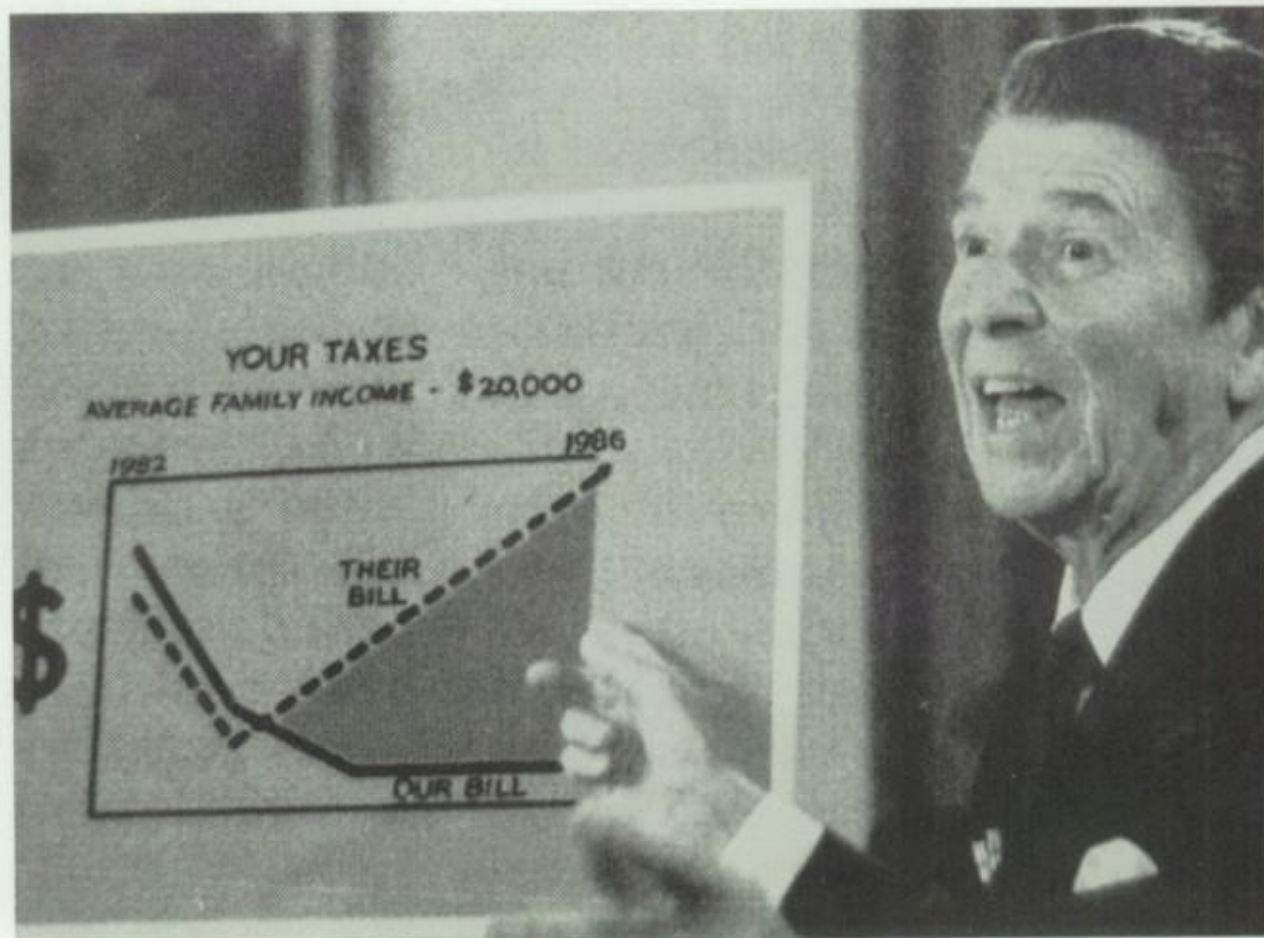

Many Senior Citizens were excited about another project of the Grinnell community. A Senior Citizens Center was built on Main Street for much participation by them. Playing cards, quilting, and just visiting seemed to pass many of the older people's time in the center.

Through world events and community changes, the 1981-82 school year has added another experience in our lives.

The Student/Teacher Relationship is definitely one to speak of as Mrs. Beatta Robben signs her John Henry to Yvette's t-shirt on t-shirt/hat day.

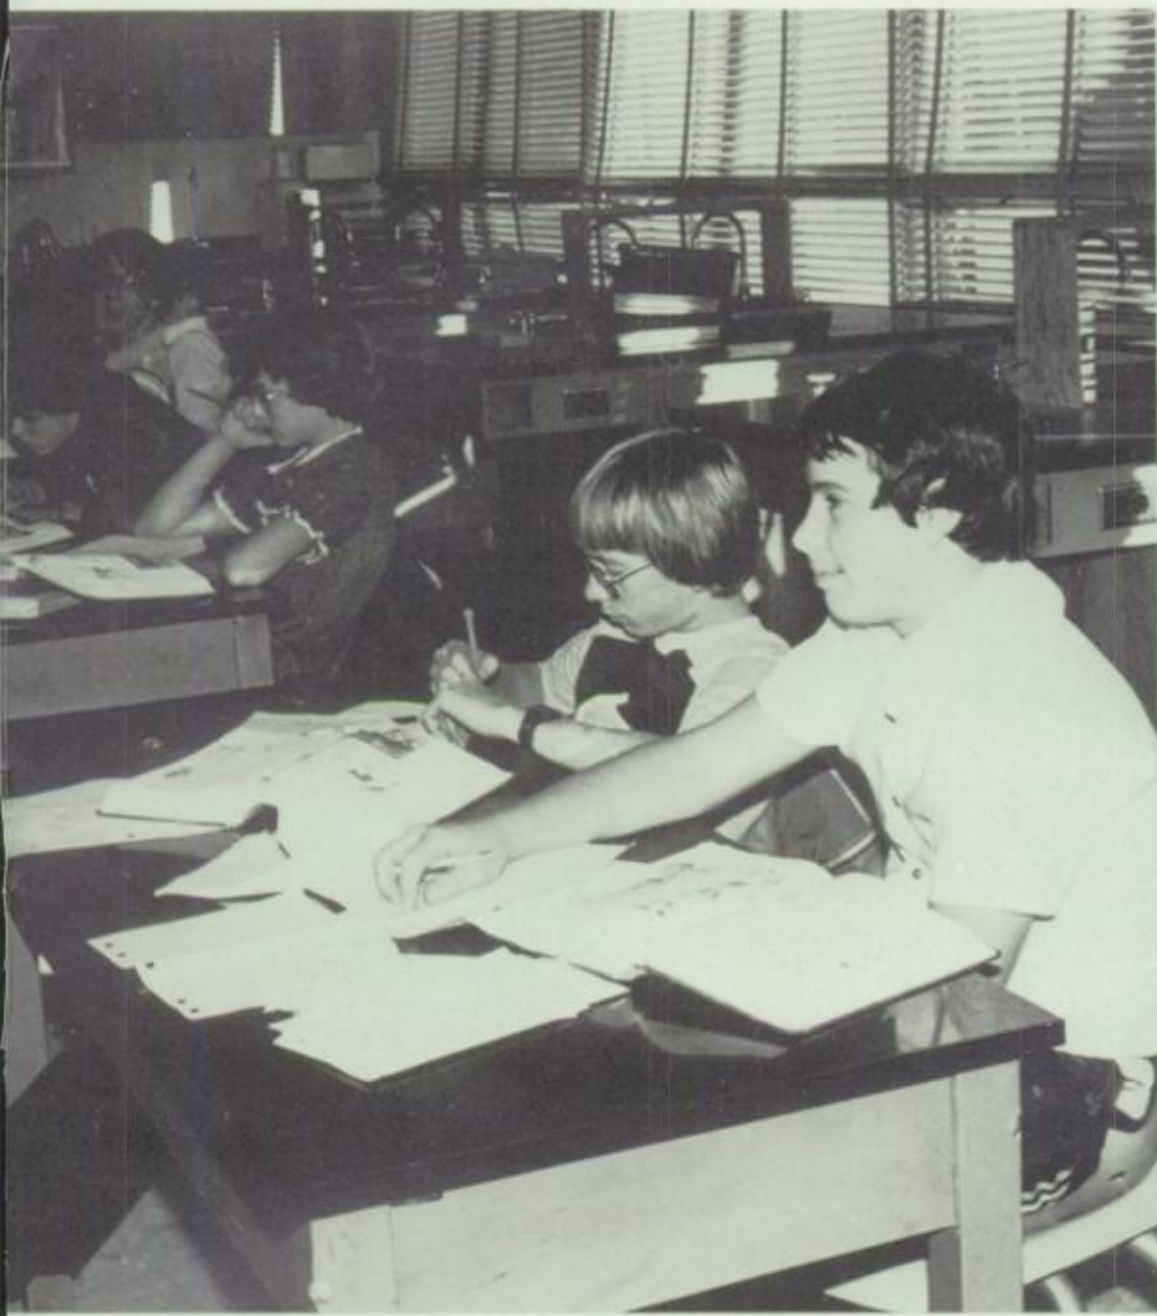

Noon Hour ... will probably be the most missed hour of the day. The two-block walk to the lunch room is worthwhile as Mark and Maurice enjoy their meal at noon. Students must stay around the school during noon hour. Many girls sit outside in front of the school to catch up on the latest gossip, while some choose to visit inside in the chairs as Steph, Jim, and Jill make their own excitement with lipstick.

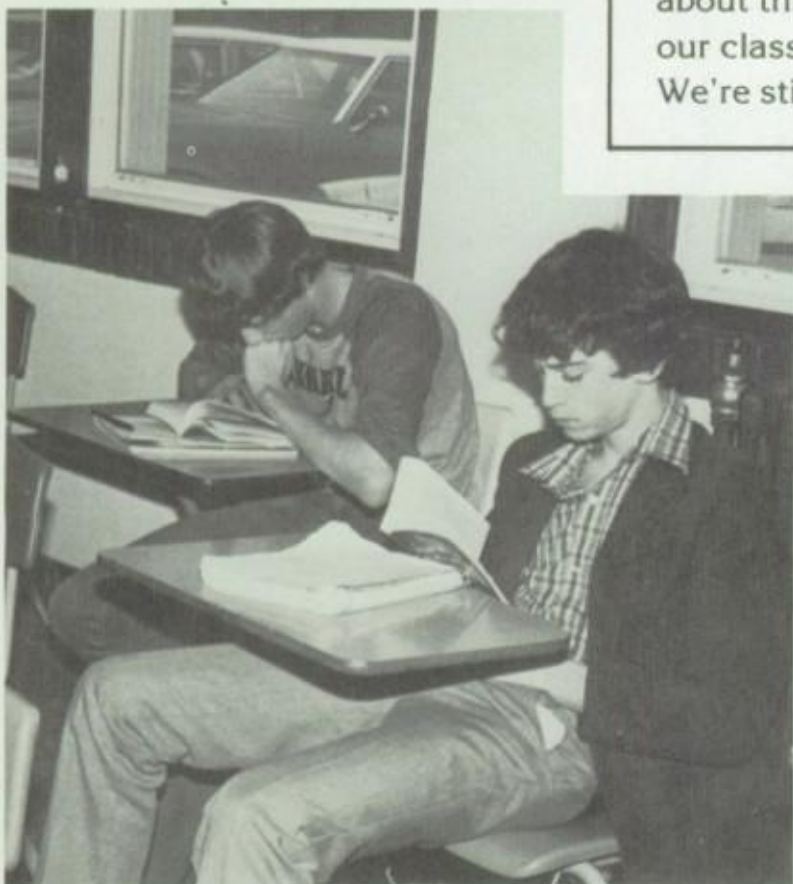

MONIQUE STRUCKHOFF

Before we knew it, May 18 was here. The trying year had ended in a flash. The newest change, which shocked the school had started as a threat to our independence. Instead of the lenience we had anticipated, Mr. Haffner gave us the discipline we needed for future growth. The year of '81-'82 was one of new beginnings and tradition, teachers and friends, failure and success. Although the year seemed challenging, the '82 clan developed a highly respectable name . . . a CHAMPION! The girls won state championships in Volleyball, Cross Country, Track, and were honored as state runner-up in Basketball. The guys competed in Football playoffs and got 4th place in Cross Country. Mike Heier was the first individual guy from Grinnell to become a state champion. GHS took two guys to state Track who tied for seventh place with 20 points. In addition, Grinnell won the Sportsmanship Award at the Girls 1A State Basketball Tournament.

"THE BEGINNING MY FRIENDS"

The beginning my friends is always so hard.
 You don't know where to start for fear we'll depart.
 And if I said to you, good luck and good-bye
 Oh friend please try not to cry.
 Don't let this moment die.
 My friends forever
 I'll always think of you.
 It won't be hard after all we've been through.
 This is the end,
 for us to be together.
 But beginnings are always forever.
 We all had so much fun
 We wouldn't think to change a thing.
 Our floats, formals and class rings and the grade school playground swings.
 Now that it's all
 said and done,
 And our night is just about through, and though our class has only a few
 We're still the class of '82.

This song was composed by Lisa Waldman and was used by special permission.

Although the athletic role is important to many, achievements in the academic field were highly ranked also. Four journalists competed in the State Journalism contest and Jacque Struckhoff came home with a 2nd place medal. The GHS band received a II rating at State. With solos, Lisa Waldman and the Clarinet Choir received I ratings at State. In addition to State Champions, the students were outstanding in the Math and Science Relays, the Emporia State Scholarships, and together, the student body contributed in all areas to foresee accomplishments. In the final words we can honestly say with much pride . . . TOGETHER WE SHINE!
